

RE/MAX Health Plus Plan attracts new agents

Just as the health care reform debate heats up in Washington, RE/MAX International has announced the launch of the RE/MAX Health Plus plan, which offers affiliates with the RE/MAX Network one of the most flexible and affordable health insurance plans in real estate today.

RE/MAX International wants all of its affiliates have access to affordable healthcare options. Through Lockton/Augeo Benefits, the plan administrator, RE/MAX can now offer all of its affiliates complete medical coverage at competitive rates.

“We’re a network of nearly 100,000 real estate agents, but we’re also a family,” said Margaret Kelly, chief executive officer of RE/MAX International. “It’s important that our affiliates have options for health care coverage and have peace of mind while pursuing a career in real estate.”

Medical benefits are a rarity in the real estate industry, as many agents are considered self-employed or independent contractors. According to the National Association of Realtors, 28 percent of its 1.2 million members have no health insurance RE/MAX Health Plus Benefits Enrollment Center at (866) 783-1300.

For more information about RE/MAX, visit www.remax.com. To become an agent, visit www.joinremax.com.

